

ULLAS: Empowering Lifelong Learning and Adult Education in India

Introduction

In a rapidly evolving knowledge economy, the ability to read, learn, and adapt continuously is not just a skill—it's a necessity. ULLAS, short for Understanding Lifelong Learning for All in Society, stands as a landmark initiative by the Government of India designed to make adult learning more inclusive, relevant, and future-ready.

Unlike earlier literacy missions that focused solely on basic reading and writing, ULLAS expands the scope of literacy to encompass digital skills, financial awareness, and practical civic knowledge. It empowers adults—especially those left behind by formal education systems—to participate fully in social, economic, and technological life.

Naipunnya Institute of Management and Information Technology (NIMIT), which has a motto “ To Reach the Unreachable” offers various programmes to the learners in language, communication and IT skills thus strengthening teaching-learning processes through formal and non-formal educational methods. We have been educating, training and harnessing the capacities, knowledge and competence of teachers, students, youth and general population in and around our college neighborhood communities like old age homes, schools, and orphanages. We have also tied up with the Koratty Panchayath through a project called “Elders Haven.” Apart from this our faculty members and students, also work on career counseling, remedial coaching, minority coaching and trainings. We also play a facilitative role in fulfilling social needs and human resource requirements by creating new learning opportunities.
